Saint Mary is a Catholic, liberal arts college sponsored by the Sisters of Charity of Leavenworth. As a college it takes its distinctive quality from such a tradition: commitment to baccalaureate and graduate education which illumines and enlarges the mind and spirit and informs professional and moral actions; commitment to the Gospel and the person of Jesus Christ; and commitment to service. As a college it takes its evolving shape from timely and thoughtful response to needs. Thus it serves students of diverse ages, backgrounds, and religions in programs on and off campus.

Saint Mary is a small college. It enrolls students at three sites: the Leavenworth campus which accepts both resident and commuter students; the “2 Plus Two Program” housed at Donnelly College in Kansas City, Kansas; and Saint Mary College in Johnson County adjacent to St. Thomas Aquinas High School. The latter two programs offer courses to commuter students. The College believes there are values in smallness, the chief one being the possibility of becoming more humane—as individuals and as an institution. The more human the scale, the greater the potential for personal growth, for relationships, and for genuine human community.
