TONALLI, TEYOLÍA, IHÍYOTL: “The Spirits In Us”

The Nahua people native to Mesoamerica believed that the human soul existed within three entities in the body: Tonallí, Teyolía, and Ihíyotl. Tonallí is located in the fontanel area of the skull, where the skull bones fuse together after birth. Teyolía is located in the center of the heart, and Ihíyotl is bound to the liver. Each of these spirits house their own protective deities and together they promote unity.
